And remember, table placement is assigned on a first commit basis – the sooner you commit, the closer you'll be to the heart of the action!

"The Digital Ball continues to bring together the technology community with a first rate mission in a way that no other event can. The heartfelt stories from the nonprofit organizations are truly inspirational."

Brian Shield,
EVP & CIO,
The Weather Channel

"TechBridge provides the link between the wealth of knowledge that is available in Atlanta's technology community and its many deserving nonprofit organizations. The Atlanta community is bound to benefit from such an exchange."

Rich Mendola,
VP of Information Technology,
Emory University

TechBridge helps nonprofits use technology to increase capacity to serve the community. We provide IT consulting, hosting and outsourcing services, enabling nonprofits to realize the productivity gains long since enjoyed by the corporate sector. We connect the needs of nonprofits with the skills and financial resources of the technology community.

By supporting the TechBridge Digital Ball, you help hundreds of nonprofits harness the power of technology, assuring a stronger, better community for us all.
